

Perspective

As the years slowly trickle past, our vision of the world develops into what becomes our own perspective. Merely caught up in our minuscule worries, we tend to let the reality drift away that greatness and beauty are one step outside the absent-minded circle of distraction.